By HERBERT FOSTER AND
JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON, (UP) — A Senate Rackets committee spokesman said today Teamster President Dave Beck's alleged questionable use of $270,000 in union funds is by no means the end of the picture.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the committee also has information about certain other transactions between Beck's union and companies that Beck controls.

He said the committee will question Beck about both the $270,000 and the other transactions "when it appears before it next week or later," he said. Beck has promised to appear Tuesday with his financial records.

Kennedy hinted at Beck's other in St. Louis condemned the committee's use of "smear tactics." They also accused the committee of using the press for pre-judging the union — largest in the nation.

The statement was issued by the policy committee of the Teamster National warehouse division after a meeting attended by Teamster crown prince James R. Hoffa and Western Boss Frank W. Brewster.

Hoffa is under indictment on charges of bribing a rackets committee investigator to fish secrets from him from the committee. Brewster, who temporarily finished testifying before the committee yesterday, is under indictment for alleged contempt of Congress.

Kennedy said yesterday shortly before the rackets committee wound up its sensational first series of hearings that Beck took at least $170,000 from the union, and used it for his personal benefit between 1948 and the first three months of 1953.

Committee Accountant Carmine S. Bellino testified Beck repaid $270,000 to the union in 1954 after income tax investigators took up his case — but that there was nothing in union books to indicate that he got the money as a loan in the first place.

Abandonment of Passenger Trains Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bennett (R-Mich.) asked today for a congressional investigation of what he called widespread abandonment of railroad passenger service in this country.

He introduced in the House a resolution to direct the House Commerce Committee, of which he is a member, to make such a study.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) asked the Senate Commerce Committee to make a similar study as part of an investigation of financial deficits reported by railroads in their operation of passenger trains.

Bennet said the abandonments may result in the loss to the nation of railroad services and facilities which could be invaluable in time of war or other national emergency.

He asked that the investigation determine how much rail passenger service has been abandoned in the last 25 years, the areas most affected, and whether Congress can do anything about it.

Hospital Board Hires Officer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two bills of the 1957 General Assembly were implemented yesterday when the State Hospital Board of Control hired the hospital's first chief security officer and approved plans for a rehabilitation center.

Gervais Lee of Van Buren, former Crawford County Judge, was selected as the security officer. After investigating the State Hospital last fall, a Legislative Council committee recommended creation of the post.

The rehabilitation center, to be built with $70,000 in state funds and about $165,000 in federal money, would provide courses for patients.

Demands Enlarge With Population

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. In 1950, our U. S. population was about 156,000,000. Today we are 170,000,000 strong and the prospect is that our rapid expansion in numbers will continue. The 2,000,000 more Americans added since 1950 are equivalent to the present population of the six New England states.

I am told that a baby is born in this country every eight seconds and that, if present rates of increase continue, we could well have a population of 220,000,000 by 1975. This huge gain means that demand prospects for our products are good. Each new birth, each immigrant, and each person living longer life than had previously been considered normal adds to the potential demand that American manufacturers and merchants can attempt to satisfy.

This growth in population far exceeds earlier predictions. I will remember the experts telling us in the depression days of the thirties that the U. S. population would hit a peak probably around 1980—and then decline. As I recall it, they thought that peak might be around 154,000,000—a mark we actually passed about five years ago.

The current boom in people is the result of an unexpectedly high birth rate and a steadily declining mortality. Modern medicine conquers many of the diseases which in the past have cut life short. Thus the area of our greatest population gain is among the very young and among our senior citizens. The adults who form the labor force are a decreasing segment of the total population. That being the case, we should be more concerned about labor-management relations in future years. I forecast that labor-force growth may continue to lag the total population rise to an increasing degree during the next twenty years.

This widening gap will create problems for management except as the automatic factory becomes a factor in the situation. This is especially true if too small a proportion of the labor force possesses the scientific and engineering skills required to keep abreast of technological developments.

Instead of paying too much attention to the expensive frills of education (as we do now), we need to encourage high school boys and girls to become scientists, chemists, and engineers, as well as economist, business man. We ought to find out whether our schools are actually doing the type of educational job that needs to be done. If we do not mend our ways in this respect we shall pay dearly in coming years for our foolishness.

Growth in population suggests a rising demand for products and services. However, we should not be too quick to assume that this increase will always be translated into actual buying power. Much will depend on the economic conditions during the years ahead.

More people will be necessary to mean more sales if the government does not curb its spending. Such spending makes for high progressive taxes which undermine profits and cripple business incentive. Neither will more people mean more sales unless we are able to adjust as a nation to the vast changes which are ahead. I have in mind the further development of atomic power, automation, space travel, and other new manufacturing and marketing techniques. More business in numbers and in potential resources will assure our prosperity. Hence, my repeated emphasis on the need for more religious training of our children.

Our rapid population growth scares some folks. They fear we cannot produce enough food for all these people. I do not share their fears. We have learned during and

Hay Expert to Meet Farmers at Columbus

Alfalfa producers of the Columbus area will meet with Woody Milley, Extension Soils Specialist, Tuesday afternoon, March 26, at 2 o'clock at the Jim Wilson farm north of Columbus, announced County Agent Oliver L. Adams.

Some problem has been encountered by alfalfa producers in maintenance of a vigorous stand. At the request of the alfalfa producers, Mr. Milley will observe the Wilson planting and advise regarding the high pH in many of the blackland soils, and the use of phosphorus and boron.

In case of rain the meeting will be held in the Allen Downs store in Columbus.

Baghdad Pact and U. S. Link Okayed by Ike

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) — President Eisenhower is prepared to agree to an important new defense link between the United States and the Baghdad pact, diplomats reported today.

The expectation of informed quarters here is that the United States will join the military committee of the Baghdad pact as it joined the economic committee about a year ago. Full U. S. membership in the alliance is not in prospect at the moment.

Joining the committee would give the United States an active role in Middle East defense strategy.

The pact, made up of Britain, Turkey, Iran, Iraq, and Pakistan provides an anti-Communist defense alliance across the northern tier of Middle East states.

The question of tighter American cooperation with it is one of the matters being talked about by the Middle East tour by President Eisenhower's special ambassador, James P. Richards who is scheduled to visit Baghdad pact capitals.

Britain has been urging the United States for a long time to get into the lineup. The United States originally backed development of the Middle East defense system but has been unwilling to take a leading role or increase its own direct military commitments in the area.

Now that Eisenhower and Congress have declared the U. S. intention to use force if necessary to protect the Middle East against Soviet Communist aggression, however, the situation has changed.

The United States in fact has undertaken a direct military commitment in the Middle East to fill the vacuum left by crumbling British and French power in that area.

Teamsters Union Officials Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — An official of Teamster Local 88 collapsed and died last night, a few minutes after talking from a meeting attended by 3000 angry union members who demanded an accounting of their money.

It was the first reprieve since the union's financial activities now being carried on in Washington by a Senate committee.

Arkansas Singer Dies in Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Gospel singer Denver Dale Crumpler, a native of Village, Ark., and member of the Statesmen Quartet, died of a heart attack in hospital here yesterday. He was 44.

Crumpler, a resident of Decatur, Ga., was generally regarded as having the highest pitched tenor voice in his field. He joined the Statesmen, a nationally known gospel singing group, three years ago after 15 years with the Ranger Quartet.

Second Quake Is Reported in Aleutians

NEW YORK (UP) — Columbia University's Lamont Seismological Observatory reported today a new very large earthquake in the Aleutian Islands.

Dr. Jack Oliver estimated the quake had an intensity of 7. He said it appeared to be nearer the Alaska mainland than 11 earlier quakes in the series which began March 9 with an 8 intensity tremor. That quake rolled a damaging tidal wave across the Pacific.

Today's quake was recorded at 9:35:10 a. m. EST from a district of 4,100 miles from New York.

Seismologist Don Towner of the University of California laboratory at Berkeley, Calif., observed a tremor at 6:27 a. m. PST with a magnitude of 7 on the Richter scale, located approximately 2,000 miles from Berkeley in a north-westerly direction, probably in the Aleutian Islands.

$1,000 in Goods Stolen at Lake City

LAKE CITY, Ark. — About $1,000 in merchandise was stolen last night from the Miller's Store here. Sheriff Lonnie Cooper said the thieves apparently hid in the store before closing time and were taken in by a few minutes after entry was found, he said.

The loot included men's and women's clothing, a television set and a radio.

Sheriff Cooper said the burglars attempt to rob the safe was foiled when they set off a tear gas bomb attached to the vault.

MacMillan, Ike Appear to Be in Full Agreement

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan worked to wind up their fast-moving Bermuda conference today with evidence that the worst wounds in British-American relations had been healed and a working partnership in world affairs restored.

Officials said there was a possibility the two Western leaders would hold a final meeting tomorrow morning, but it was hoped the main work could be concluded by tonight. Eisenhower plans to leave for Washington tomorrow but it had not been decided whether he will go by plane or sail aboard the U. S. Guided missile cruiser Canniborn.

Macmillan will remain here until the middle of next week to confer with Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, who is to arrive Monday.

Strict secrecy was the rule for today's first session between Eisenhower, Macmillan and a restricted group of their advisers on military defense and atomic problems.

That plan was followed late yesterday when they opened the discussion of Britain's diminishing military position over the world and possible U. S. countermeasures to maintain the free world's strength against Soviet power.

Enough is known on the general progress of the talks, however, to provide support for the view of officials that the meeting has gone well and the split which developed between the United States and Britain last November over the invasion of Egypt has been largely closed.

Filipinos Pay Tribute to Former Leader

MANILA (AP) — Raimon Magsaysay, third president of the Philippines, was placed in his tomb today mourned by millions of Filipinos and leaders of the free world.

The 49-year-old Magsaysay was killed Sunday in a plane crash on Cebu Island which took the lives of 25 other persons.

Seven-hour state and religious funeral rites today released the pent-up emotions of his countrymen. As a motorized caisson bearing the flag-draped casket moved slowly through the city, hundreds of thousands of weeping, shouting Filipinos poured out in a human flood. They overwhelmed a reinforced police, army and constabulary force in their efforts to press toward the center of the official procession.

President Carlos P. Garcia, succeeded Magsaysay as chief executive, led the eulogies with a pledge to the free world that we shall keep our flag flying high and proudly among the banners of freedom.

Berrios and Costa Battle Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Cocky Miguel Berrios, pits his aggressive style against the smooth boxing of Brooklyn's clever Carmelo Costa tonight in the first round of the featherweight elimination tournament.

The 25-year-old, 5-2 Puerto Rican is the 7-5 choice to win the radio-television (NBC 3 p. m. CST) 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

After this opener, the winner will take on Nigeria's Hogan Bassey, British Empire 126-pound titlist, in the semifinal. The semifinal victor then will face Francisco Chirif Hamia, the European king, for the title vacated by retired Sandy Saddler.

Berrios' record is 20-7, including three kayos.

Costa, 22, 5-4½, and one of the smartest boxers in the division, earned his reputation in 1955 with an unbeaten year. He slumped in 1956, winning two and losing to Hamia, Ike Chestnut and Texas Paul Jorgensen. He beat the Texan easily in a return.

Men Trapped in Cave Are Rescued

ALHAMBRA, Calif. (AP) — Two men were trapped in a cave-in for more than 45 minutes before rescuers, attracted by their screams, dug them out.

The men were in a 15-foot deep, lying pipelines when the banks caved in.

We dug with our bare hands to uncover their heads," said Robert McWaters, a crane operator on the flood control project.

Firmen aided in the final rescue of Casey Dombrowski, 37, Garden Grove, Calif., and Raul Morales, 41 San Gabriel, Calif. They were taken in serious condition to the White Memorial Hospital.

Irish Rebels Blast Telephone Exchange

BELFAST, Northern Ireland. (UP) — Irish Nationalist leaders blew up an automatic telephone exchange at Ballymena in County Antrim last night.

It was the latest in a series of raids started last December to that Britain turn over the six dramatic Nationalist demand north Ireland countries to the Irish republic.

Brewster Does Not Approve of Mr. Beck

By HERBERT FOSTER &
JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON, (UP) — West Coast Teamsters Boss Frank W. Brewster told the Senate rackets committee today he did not approve of Teamster President Dave Beck's action in borrowing $300,000 to 400,000 from the union without interest.

Brewster resumed testimony before the committee shortly after being arraigned in Federal Court on contempt of Congress charges. He was released on $1,000 bond for trial May 20.

Brewster said he has borrowed pretty close to $80,000 from the union himself. But he said he paid interest and has now repaid the loans.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) asked if Brewster thought it wrong for Beck to borrow union funds without interest.

In my personal opinion, yes," said Brewster.

Brewster pleaded not guilty at his arraignment before Federal Judge Charles F. McLaughlin. The contempt charge against him resulted from his refusal last January to answer questions on the Senate investigating subcommittee, also headed by McClellan.

He said that committee lacked legal authority to probe into union affairs. He has testified at length, however, before the new special rackets committee created by the senate to look into union and management misconduct.

Two of Brewster's union colleagues were arraigned at the same time on the same charge and also pleaded not guilty. They were Eugene J. Lapoma, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, and Elma O. Mohr of Chevy Chase, Md., an international vice president.

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank W. Brewster has a double date today — with a federal court judge and with a special Senate committee for more quizzing on his use of Teamsters Union funds.

Brewster, West Coast teamsters official, said he is pleading innocent at his arraignment on a contempt of Congress indictment stemming from his refusal to answer questions in a prior Senate probe. Elmer O. Mohr, the union's executive vice president, faces arraignment on a similar charge.

Brewster's fifth day on the witness stand was delayed an hour to permit his court appearance. Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said, meanwhile, the committee planned an executive session this afternoon to hear from Paul Dorfman, secretary of a Chicago Waste Handlers Union, and Allen Dorfman, Paul's son, an insurance executive.

The Dorfman's have been quizzed in earlier congressional probes into labor union affairs. Allen Dorfman is a partner in a Michigan boys camp with James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union vice president, under indictment on charges of bribing a staff member of the Senate committee.

Allen Dorfman's insurance agency handles a big chunk of labor union insurance and welfare plan business in the Midwest. Paul Dorfman's operations in the Chicago Waste Handlers Union are under an investigation ordered by AFL-CIO President George Meany.

A special committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) hoped to wind up by tonight its hearings on allegations that (A) Brewster improperly used large sums of union funds as his own, and (B) that Brewster and Seattle, Wash. hoodlums muscled in on profitable rackets in Portland, Ore.

Brewster said yesterday the late John J. Sweeney, former secretary of the Western Conference of Teamsters, actually issued many of the union checks which bore both men's signatures. He said he was not responsible for what that committee said was unusual handling of union funds from which Brewster and his friends benefited.

Philippines Okay Ambassador Bohlen

Bohlen, currently American envoy to Moscow, succeeds Albert F. Nafar, who died in Manila last November after a heart attack.

Living Costs Show Increase in February

WASHINGTON (UP) — The cost of living jumped four-tenths of one per cent in February, setting a new record for the sixth straight month, the government reported today.

Higher prices for food, housing costs, gasoline, and a number of other items boosted the Bureau of Labor statistics' consumer price index to 114.7 per cent of average 1947-49 prices. The index stood 3.6 per cent higher than in February, 1956.

The BLS also reported that the cost of living jump brought a slight decline in the buying power of the average factory worker's pay check. It said the increased prices more than offset a small rise in the average factory worker's take home pay.

However, the increase in the price index meant cost of living pay increases of one to two cents an hour for 135,000 workers, mostly in the aircraft industry, whose wage contracts carry escalator clauses tied to the index for February.

The take home pay average earnings after federal taxes for factory workers in February was reported at $74.09 a week.

The purchasing power of the paycheck stood at 122.3 per cent of the average in the 1947-49 period, two-tenths of one per cent below January.

Food prices rose seven-tenths of one per cent between January and February, the largest monthly increase since last July. Higher prices for pork and poultry were mainly responsible.

A one per cent increase in prices of house furnishings and a continuing rise in home maintenance costs were responsible for housing cost increases.

Other price increases were reported in gasoline and motor oil, tires and repair services, auto insurance rates in some states, and railroad fares in eastern and southern states. However, new and used car dealer prices declined.

Swedish Diplomat in Russian Prison

TEL AVIV, Israel, (UP) — Swedish Minister Olen Lundborg said today that Swedish diplomat Raul Allenberg, who saved thousands of Jews from Nazi concentration camps, may still be alive somewhere in Russia despite Soviet claims he died in prison.

Lundborg said Wallenberg's family in Sweden received information contradicting a Soviet report six weeks ago that he died in 1947. Wallenberg disappeared in Budapest in 1945. Until Feb. 7 this year the Russians steadfastly denied they had seized him.

Ava Playing Hands With Italian

ROME, (UP) — An unabashed public display of handholding by Ava Gardner and Italian Comedian Walter Chiari touched off new reports today that the film star was heading for her fourth wedding.

Their names have been linked romantically since 1954, but this was the first time the couple had circulated arm in arm at a public reception and allowed photographers to snap their picture at will.

Just a month ago Chiari tore into a French news cameraman who tried to photograph the couple leaving a Roman jazz cellar.

Chiari, billed as Italy's Danny Kaye, told the United Press Dec. 28 that he had asked Miss Gardner to marry him. She refused to give him an answer, however, until her divorce from Crooner Frank Sinatra becomes final. Chiari had said.

Miss Gardner has been married three times, to Mickey Rourke in 1943, Bandleader Artie Shaw in 1946, and Sinatra in 1950. Chiari has never been married.

San Francisco Damaged by Several Quakes

By NEAL CORBETT
SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — A strong tremor shook San Francisco again early today and apparently started a fire in an upper Market Street apartment building.

The tremor was the third strongest in a series which began shaking this city yesterday. It registered a magnitude of 4.25 on the Richter scale.

Six minutes after the 3:13 a. m. EST tremor, the fire department raced to Market Street to answer a fire alarm. Firemen contained a fire in the apartment building in 20 minutes and 40 residents who had fled the structure returned.

All indications were that the blaze was caused by this latest shake.

The series of violent upheavals, the worst since the 1906 disaster destroyed millions of dollars worth of property over a 200-mile area.

There are few persons who remember the disaster of 1906 which killed 452 and did half a billion dollars worth of damage — and there are few who will forget the daylong series of over 50 quakes that caused near panic — but no loss of life, yesterday.

Yesterday, families huddled in streets in frightened groups as houses were twisted and furniture was smashed. But as the area still shuddered with occasional movement, over 20,000 of them packed a baseball park in the center of town last night to see the Boston Red Sox play the San Francisco Seals.

There was no thought of baseball 12 hours earlier, however.

A series of small shocks began at 6:30 (PST), topped by a vicious and sustained 5.5 tremor shortly before noon. Skyscrapers whipped back and forth as panic-stricken office workers fled into the streets.

In the residential section of the city near the ocean, where the quake centered, houses twisted on their foundations, gas and water lines burst, and sections of the recent coast highway dropped into the sea.

No buildings collapsed, and the 30-odd persons hurt received only minor injuries. But reports from a 200-mile stretch of northern and central California indicated the overall damage would run well into the millions of dollars.

Union Leaders Illegally Spent Millions

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Rackets Committee said today that Teamster officials misappropriated or spent for questionable purposes $709,420 in union money.

The committee made the charge in winding up the first 3-1/2 week phase of its investigation of improper conduct in labor and management.

Some of the $709.20 has since been repaid to the union treasury, the committee's records show, the repaid portion included $270,000 which, committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said, amsters president Dave Beck, used for his personal benefit. He paid it back, a committee staff member said, when federal income tax investigators began looking into his finances.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) made public a committee summary of expenditure of union funds totaling $709,420 which he said need accounting for.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

We are all familiar with the hymn for little children, "Gentle Jesus, meek and mild; Look upon a little child." It is an aspect of the Christ in the Gospels, and am not sure whether it is not the dominant aspect in the world's portrait of the Man of Galilee. It is Jesus blessing the little children; it is the sympathetic Saviour weeping with Mary and Martha at the death of Lazarus. It is the Good Shepherd leading the sheep by green pastures, but in a sterner, less pastoral scene scolding the lost sheep "Far on the mountain cold and drear," and willing even to give His life for His sheep. We would not be true to the Gospels if we did not know, and love that gentle Christ.

But there are other aspects of the Master, far from gentle, and as firmly set in the Gospel records. We are familiar with the angry Christ driving the money-changers from the Temple; there is the courageous, dominant Christ, confident in the truth of His words and deeds, daring to assert His own authority against those who asked Him, "By what authority doest thou these things?" and to pursue His mission in spite of those who harried Him to His death.

And, perhaps as apposed to gentleness and strangeness of all is the Christ of the "woes" (Matthew 23:13-30), hurling His denunciations of hypocrisy against the ostensibly strong and great.

In His denunciations Jesus went beyond John the Baptist, in whom there seemed to be all sternness and little gentleness. John indicted a generation, "a generation of vipers." It was general; but Jesus was very specific. He attacked the outwardly great and strong, the professed leaders of the generation that John assailed.

A qualifying word ought to be said regarding the Pharisees whose hypocrisy Jesus attacked. It was precisely because they were Pharisees that He found them wanting. The Pharisees historically were the devout and intense believers in Israel. They had formerly suffered terrible persecution for their faith, 800 of them having been crucified in one day. (See page 54 of the "Helps" in Bagster's Teachers' Bible).

In the Parable of the Publican and the Pharisee Jesus did not mean to imply that a Publican was better than a Pharisee, or that Publicans were better than Pharisees.

What He meant was that a Publican humbly seeking God's mercy was justified. In contrast with a Pharisee in his arrogant spiritual pride boasting of what he was. Similarly, Jesus did not exalt Samaritans above His fellow Jews.

What He did was to contrast the goodness of a despised Samaritan, ministering to a stricken man, with the utter failure of the Priest and Levite who passed by a man in need.

What Jesus asserted was reality rather than profession. He attacked the Scribes, not for what they were, but for what they were not. They "sat in Moses' seat," and Jesus upheld the spiritual authority of the Law and the Prophets. He specifically asserted that He had come not to destroy, but to fulfill. But He stressed the spirit, not the letter; the truth concerning God, not the formalism of men.

One cannot contemplate the denunciations of Jesus without wondering what would be His attitude toward those who sit in the seats of authority today. The contrast between what we call

Surely more people in future years may well solve our current farm problem of overproduction. In fact, I forecast that the time is not far distant when we shall be eager to increase our farm output. We will step up our crop yields to new record highs through an intelligent use of irrigation and fertilizer and other soil, and crop builders. I am optimistic about the future of American farmers.

A. Vanderbilt Takes His Third Wife

CHICAGO (AP) — A young Chicago postgraduate, who had ambitions for a stage career, has become the third wife of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, multi-millionaire sportsman, her parents disclosed yesterday.

Vanderbilt, 44-year-old heir to one of America's greatest fortunes and Jean Harvey, 20, member of a socially prominent and pioneer Chicago family, were married in Mexico City March 12, her parents said.

The bride's mother Mrs. Daggett Harvey said none of the family members attended the wedding. She added that Vanderbilt and his bride now are in Florida and probably will live in his Long Island, N. Y., home.

Vanderbilt, owner of Native Dancer among other famed race horses, was divorced last December by Mrs. Jeanne Murray Vanderbilt in Gooding, Idaho. They have two children. His first marriage, to the former Manuela Hudson, in 1938, ended in divorce in 1942. They have a daughter, Wendie.

In recent months Miss Harvey had been in New York City studying dramatics in preparation for a stage career and Vanderbilt had been her frequent escort.

Her paternal grandfather Byron Harvey was the son of Fred Harvey, founder of the Harvey restaurant system.

DOROTHY DIX

They've Nothing to Do — So They End Up Necking

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a high school senior and love Mike who is 19 and in the Navy. When he comes home on leave, he doesn't have much money. We usually stay home; watch television and end up necking. We haven't gone too far yet, but I'm afraid we might. Could you suggest some kind of entertainment that I wouldn't cost too much money?

GINGER
Dear Ginger: You very sensibly recognize the fact that social inactivity can easily lead to overactivity in other directions. Begin by putting a definite limit on time spent alone, at home. When your parents retire, it's time for Mike to depart.

You live in a fair-sized city where there are surely group activities, such as "Y" dances, skating, bowling, etc. If you look around, consult your friends, read the papers, scan the school and church bulletins, you'll find what you're looking for.

Necking is often just a substitute for boredom. Keep busy and interested to avoid dangerous pastimes.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a man who has reached the age of 30 without being married, largely because of family responsibilities which are now settled. However, since I wear glasses, and am slightly bald, I wonder if I can Christendom and the faith, life, and ideals of the Christianity upon which Christendom is obviously founded is obviously extreme.

Those wrinkles that sleep presses into your face can be banished in the morning before you apply your make-up. Start (left) by steaming your face over the washbowl after your shower. The water should be very hot. Then, dip a small towel or washcloth in water as hot as you can stand it and gently rub across (the creases. Rinse with cold water and then (center) finish by rubbing an ice cube wrapped in the same cloth over your entire face. You're now ready for make-up. The result: a smooth and pretty face (right). Once you get into the routine you'll find it takes just a few minutes each morning.

DRAW A BEAD ON THIS—Screen star Kim Novak, playing the name role in "The Jeanne Eagels Story," ran into costume trouble when she did a dance number wearing the outfit seen above. It consists of a few wisps of silk and 231 pearl beads. When she went into the provocative, hip-swinging dance, the beads began to fly. Attempts to replace them failed, so the producer gave up and ordered the number finished, letting beads fall where they might.

Thought For The Day
Never have anything to do with an unlucky place, or an unlucky man. I have seen many clever men, very clever men, who had not shoes to their feet. I never act with them. Their advice sounds very well, but they cannot get on themselves; and if they cannot do good to themselves, how can they do good to me? — Rothschild said it

Mrs. Mary Stearns will open her kindergarten Monday April 1st as previously announced. The school will open at 9 a. m. and close at 12:00. When the kindergarten closed for the holiday season last December, Mrs. Stearns announced the school would be closed during the three cold winter months and open April 1st in order to prepare the children who will be eligible to enter the public school next fall for their kindergarten graduation exercise at the Hope Well School in May.

The graduation exercise will be announced as soon as a date is secured, and the number of 6 year olds attending mothers are urged to send all their children to kindergarten who will be entering 1st grade next September. Children who have gone to kindergarten make better grades and are better students than those who have had no pretraining, or have not been adjusted to being away from mama.

Every child should know his A B C's, count, and get along with his playmate when he enters the 1st grade. This knowledge helps the teacher to give the child a good start on his way to a good education. Certificates will be presented to all children who have satisfactorily completed their pre-school training, including children who will be 6 by next September.

With the defeat Madison was dropped from the double elimination meet.

In other games La Crosse Finley scored its third straight victory by handing Beaumont, Tex., its first defeat, 78-67. New Kensington, Pa., was also eliminated from the tournament when beaten 88-65 by Tomah, Wis.

Kentland, Ind., did not take the floor but picked up two victories as La Crosse 58-41 and Beaver Dam, Wis., forfeited and were eliminated.

Information From Spring Training Camp

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Hits, runs and errors from the spring training camps:

If the name is unfamiliar, ask grandpa, but the news out of the International League is that Satchel Paige—47 going on 80—is primed for another season with Miami.

Old Satch, who had an amazing record of 11 wins against four defeats last season, and saved 15 games in relief, surprised all hands by announcing he would report before spring training was half over. The reason: He heard the fishing was extra good this year.

Smile a while department: One of the best pictures of the spring was one showing Giant manager Bill Rigney giving hitting tips to Daryl Spencer. The giggle is that Rigney's best full season batting average when he played with the Giants was .278, not exactly astronomical even for infielders.

Ted Williams figures that he'll play 100 games this season which at 100,000 comes to a fancy 1,000 a game for his hitting. The fielding apparently gets thrown in for free because when Ted reported to camp he asked clubhouse man Johnny Orlando is my glove ready?

What's the difference? demanded Orlando. Your bats are.

Early Wynn thought it was an insult when the Red Sox offered only $1,000,000 for fireball pitcher Herb Score. Wynn believes Score will rewrite the record books and said that General Manager Hank Greenberg should hold out for $2,000,000.

If Greenberg don't want the million, said Score wistfully, Ill take it.

The Kansas City Athletics are using an electronic device to clock the speed of their pitchers fast balls. But, as Joe DiMaggio insists, they'll hit your fast ball if it's shot out of a cannon unless you've got something on it.

Mayo Smith has his Phillies doing so much running to get into top shape that one rookie complained: Are we out for baseball or the Olympics? To which one side observer reported:

When you see some of the pitching on this club, you'll realize outfielders have to have the speed of Man O'War and the endurance of an eight-day clock.

Bill McCorry, the Yankee road secretary, was moaning about the expense account of one player because it included a $3 bridge toll. Are the Yankees getting cheap? No, screamed McCorry, this guy came to camp by plane.

Joker in Cancer and Smoking

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal cancer specialist says there is a "joker" in the recently reported discovery of a cancer-causing ingredient in cigarette smoke. He said the cause-effect relationship is not yet established.

Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, gave that opinion to a House Appropriations subcommittee Feb. 19, in closed-door testimony made public today.

Dr. Heller was asked about a news story last month that Dr. Nguyenphue Bau Hoi, a French-educated Vietnamese, working at the Curie Institute in Paris, had found an agent in cigarette smoke that invariably causes cancer in mice.

Dr. Heller said the Paris doctor took a compound called 3-4-10 dibenzoparane, and all the animals in which he injected this compound developed cancer.

The joker in it, however, is that this compound was not obtained from cigarette smoke, but was a tar which was taken from a laboratory on the presumption that someone had previously identified this compound as being in tobacco tar.

It is an important advance in the identification and characterization of a chemical, but it is not a direct association to given

SEEING U.S.—ON THE CUFF—Eugene Sermely, one of Europe's outstanding jazz pianists, and his wife, Jolan, are on a 24-city, seven-week tour of the United States, nearly all of it on the cuff. It's this way: Eugene and Jolan are Hungarian refugees, in this country only a few months after scurrying over the Austrian border disguised as potato-pickers, a jump ahead of Russian pursuers. To dramatize the contrast between the West and the Russian-dominated world, the American Hotel Association sponsored their tour. They'll carry very little cash. Practically all their hotel, traveling, eating and entertainment expenses will be on credit cards. The Sermelys, who live in Washington, D.C., are pictured in New York City at the start of their tour.

By BERNARD FERGUSSON

THE STORY: Ordered not to discuss politics with the natives, Allan and Mollie Larg now find they are in the center of intrigue on the island of Seknou, where a Scottish relative lived as a pirate two centuries ago. Father Paleologue, who befriended them, intercepted them as they plan to tour the island and ordered them to return to the gendarmier.

CHAPTER XI

Allan was beginning to get annoyed. "Now, Father Paleologue, please listen. We have been asked to lunch at Clusium. We don't particularly want to go, but we have accepted a kind and pressing invitation. And unless you tell us a good reason for not going, I'm afraid we shall have to."

And Paleologue led Allan away by the elbow, a few yards out of earshot from Mollie.

"Since you press me, mon Colonel, the trouble which we have been expecting has begun. There is no communication with Nall now; it was cut this morning, but not before we had heard of serious fighting there. The crowds are gathering already in Seknou. And both Captain Billon and I have information that Madame Larg and you are to be kidnapped this afternoon. To show you that I know what I say, I tell you the name of him who has invited you is Camille Fernana."

Mollie had already got out of the taxi and joined them, determined not to be left out of the talk.

"Camille Fernana!" said Allan. "What relation is he of the chap at the hotel?"

"They are brothers. Captain Billon thinks that you knew all along who these people were. I assured him that you did not. He wished me to tell you that the British Consul-General wished to speak to you urgently on the telephone. He thought that it was the one way of being certain that you would come back."

"But why should they want to kidnap us?" asked Allan incredulously.

Paleologue looked at him quizzically.

"I believe," he said, "what Captain Billon would never believe. I believe that you do not know. I will tell you as soon as we are safely back at Seknou; and you must leave the hotel."

"We'll come," said Mollie.

As they got nearer, the town seemed to be much as they had left it; there was no noise of shooting, no column of smoke rising from pillaged buildings.

It was not until they had actually reached the group of European buildings on the south side of the town that he began to change his mind again. For in front of the Gendarmier there were half a dozen armed native police wearing steel helmets of the French army type.

The entrance to the hotel was 80 yards short of the Gendarmier. The taxi driver and the escort jobacco smoke.

Heller added that generally a definite correlation has been found between heavy smoking and frequency of cancer, but we are to completely prepared to admit yet . . . a causal effect relationship.

Dr. James A. Shannon, director of the National Institutes of Health, said federal units are conducting a board study which will settle for all time the association or nonassociation of tobacco smoking and cancer of the lung.

He said recent results of other studies tend to confirm the original results—they indicate there was an association both between heavy smoking on the one hand and cancer and heart disease on the other, without being able to pin down in a precise way the cause of the Association.

Brewster Also Told to Bring in Records

By HERBERT FOSTER AND JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON (UP) The Senate Labor subcommittee to-

told by radio that he cannot count on any aid, at any rate for some days. At present he is still hoping that he may be able to bluff the Seknougals into believing that reinforcements are coming, but he does not really expect that he can keep up the bluff for long. He is particularly worried about you two."

"That is what we cannot understand," said Mollie. "Does he think that we are somehow in league with the Seknougals?"

"He did at first; now I don't think he does. But the coincidence of your coming to Seknou at this time of all times naturally puzzled him. Do you realize what a stir your arrival has caused among the Seknougals?"

"I'm beginning to get an inkling of it," said Allan.

"Here in Seknou Al Merhamet-siz has always been a figure of legend. It was he, as you certainly know, who made Seknou for some years into an independent Pashalik and defied the Bey; and even when the Bey crushed him at last, his influence went on. It would be too much to say that he was defied by the Seknougals; shall we say that he was canonized? And somehow they know of your coming here long before the French authorities—some weeks, even, before your arrival."

"That's quite impossible," said Allan firmly.

"Did you write no letters saying you were coming? To an hotel, perhaps?"

"Yes, I certainly wrote to the hotel in Tunis booking rooms."

Paleologue nodded wisely. "That might easily account for it. I have been here 30 years, Colonel, as I may have told you, and these people have good information about everything that may concern them. It is astonishing, the lies between those who have left the island and those who remain here."

"But why should we be of such interest? Is it really because we have connections with Al Merhamet-siz?"

"I think," said Paleologue, "that I have failed to make you realize the degree to which the memory of Al Merhamet-siz is venerated by these people. To the Mussulmans, he comes just after the Prophet; to the Jews, he is a greater than Maccabee. When I first came here, some of the more credulous people believed that he had never died, but was sleeping."

"I still don't understand how the Seknougals were so quick at connecting my wife and myself with Al Merhamet-siz."

"Your name, Colonel," cried Paleologue impatiently. "Al Merhamet-siz, 'El Larg, 'Iskander Larg, which mean 'Alexander Larg, 'Iskander el Kebir'—he is known by all these names. There are even some people who say that El Areg el Kebir is really 'El Larg el Kebir—'The Great Larg,' and not 'The Great Dune.'"

"And why were they so certain that we were relations?"

"That I don't know. But all Orientals are great genealogists. No doubt your name appears in books of reference in England, such as our Bottin Mondain in France."

"I'm bound to say," he remarked to Mollie, "that I had rather underestimated the circulation of Burke and Kelly in these parts."

"The atmosphere is more like Burke and Hare," said Mollie.

Paleologue laughed as he munched.

"There is a third brother too, but he is a cripple and does not appear much. He too was well educated. In fact, he is the cleverest of the three. And, most important of all—there is their mother. About her, very little is known. No Frenchman, to my knowledge, has ever seen her. But she dispenses stern justice behind the scenes. She is virtually Sultan of Seknou. And she claims to be descended from Al Merhamet-siz."

"At Clusium, Colonel."

"Where does she live?"

"Do you think we might have met her at luncheon today?"

"I think it possible."

"But to go on with our reconstruction," said Allan. "The Seknougals get to know somehow that we're coming to Tunis; they know exactly who we are, or they confirm that we are who they think; Camille checks that we were at the Nall Hotel."

"Believe me," said Paleologue, "I am not avoiding the rest of this conversation, but I too have some duties. I am going down into the town."

Press Parley Doesn't Bait the Debating

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—We don't bait but debating," says Martha Roundtree, chairwoman of Press Conference (ABC-TV, Sunday evenings). We are not trying to de-dignify our guests."

Thereby she takes a stand quite different from an increasing number of television interview programs.

When you start arguing you don't get information. And from an important guest you want information. We are, actually, trying to do an information program."

In its effort to stay on top of the most current news, Martha Roundtree's Press Conference usually is padded with usual tele-tube day of two before air time. Because of Miss Roundtree's many friendships in Washington she says she never has been stuck in obtaining a guest who is familiar with an important news event.

I don't think it's essential that we always should announce in advance who our guest should be, she said. I'd rather be on top of the front page news than make the television listings inside the newspaper."

Martha Roundtree's Press Conference has been a continually changing panel of 12 newsmen who interview an important guest. It is the only regular weekly interview program which has flown its staff abroad to interview prominent European statesmen when important news was breaking there.

But Teamster President Dave Beck passed up the chance to tell the committee whether he will hand over his personal financial records next Tuesday.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said he received a new telegram from Beck, but the reservations are still there on whether Beck would surrender his records or invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to give them up.
